There are also exceptions where a candidate may be awarded/allocated the use of a word processor in exams where the candidate has a firmly established need and reflects the candidate's normal way of working and by not being awarded a word processor would be at a substantial disadvantage to the candidate.

This may include where a candidate has, for example:

- A learning difficulty which has a substantial and long term adverse effect on their ability to write legibly.
- A medical condition.
- A physical disability.
- A sensory impairment.
- Planning and organisational problems when writing by hand.
- Poor handwriting.

The only exception to the above where the use of a word processor may be considered for a candidate would be:

- on a temporary basis as a consequence of a temporary injury at the time of the assessment.
- where a subject within the curriculum is delivered electronically and the centre provides word processors to all candidates.

Arrangements For The Use Of Word Processors At The Time Of The Assessment

Appropriate exam-compliant word processors will be provided by the Examinations Officer in liaison with the SENDCo and Assessor at the beginning of each examination. A review of the cohort will take place at the beginning of each year to ensure sufficient appropriate word processors are available to those candidates with this access arrangement.

Candidates will receive their certificates in person at the School. Certificates can be collected on behalf of a candidate by third parties, provided they have written authority from the candidate to do so, and bring suitable identification with them that confirms who they are.

The School retains certificates for 12 months, after which time they will be securely destroyed.

A new certificate will not be issued by an Awarding Organisation. A transcript of results may be issued if a candidate agrees to pay the costs incurred.
